CHAIRMEN

Abe and Irene Pollin

Entering their 42nd season of ownership, Abe and Irene Pollin hold the distinction of being the longest tenured owners in the National Basketball Association. Since becoming owners in 1964, the Pollins have watched the NBA become the standard by which all other professional sports leagues are measured, exploding in growth from a small, regional league to a worldwide presence on the business landscape.

In their distinguished career, Abe and Irene Pollin have been at the center of every major issue in the NBA during their time at the helm of the Washington Bullets/Wizards. In 1978, they reached the pinnacle of the NBA as their Bullets, behind the play of Wes Unseld, Elvin Hayes and Bob Dandridge, defeated Seattle and brought a World Championship to Washington.

As the majority owners of Washington Sports & Entertainment Limited Partnership, Abe and Irene Pollin oversee the operations of the Washington Wizards and the Washington/Baltimore TicketMaster, in-house promoter Musicentre Productions, and the management of Verizon Center and the George Mason University Patriot Center.

Thirty-three years ago, the Pollins opened the Capital Centre in Landover, Maryland, the new home for their Baltimore Bullets, and applied for a National Hockey League expansion franchise. The Capital Centre opened on December 2, 1973, and it was what Verizon Center is today — a state-of-the-art sports and entertainment facility that became the standard for new arenas throughout the world.

The Capital Centre, aptly named by Irene Pollin, was built in a record 15 months and boasted a host of unique features including electronic ticketing, one-of-a-kind luxury suite accommodations and the never-seen-before Telescreen. It was the premier arena in its time, hosting a wide range of events from sporting events to concerts and even presidential galas.

But as time and the sports and entertainment industry changed, the Pollins realized that their teams were no longer playing in the "best" facility in their respective leagues. In 1964, when the Pollins and two partners purchased the Baltimore Bullets, they had dreams that someday the team would play in a brand-new facility in the Nation's Capital. Now they had another opportunity to make their dreams reality.

After the long years of planning and then building Verizon Center, the Pollins watched as their dreams came true on December 2, 1997, when a sellout crowd filled Verizon Center to watch the Wizards host the arena's first event versus the Seattle Supersonics. Since that time, over 21.2 million people have spun the turnstiles at Verizon Center to be a part of over 1,788 concerts and sporting events, and the downtown area has sprung to life.

"I had two goals when I decided to build this building," said Abe Pollin. "The first was that if I was building in downtown Washington, the nation's capital, it had to be the best building of its kind in the country. The second was to be the catalyst that turned the city around."

As the Wizards completed their first season at Verizon Center, the Pollin's WNBA franchise, the Washington Mystics, was making history of its own. The Mystics made their Verizon Center debut on June 19, 1998, against the Utah Starzz in front of 20,674 fans — the largest crowd ever to attend a women's professional basketball game in the United States. And while the Mystics' beginnings under the Pollin's guidance were historic in their own right, their purchase by Sheila Johnson and Lincoln Holdings was of similar significance. In May of 2005, the Pollins facilitated the sale of their Mystics to Sheila Johnson as the Mystics President and Managing Partner, and brought Johnson to Lincoln Holdings, a minority partner in Washington Sports & Entertainment. With Lincoln Holdings' stake in the NBA's Wizards and the NHL's Capitals, Johnson became the first African-American woman to have ownership interest in three professional sports franchises.

The sports industry is full of astute business professionals, but what distinguishes Abe and Irene Pollin from their peers is their commitment to social responsibility. They share a passionate need to give back to the community and have made helping people a way of life. Their philanthropic and humanitarian endeavors know no bias or boundaries, which is evident by the numerous public service and community organizations to which they selflessly devote enormous time and energy.

Abe Pollin serves as the Chairman of the Advisory Council, is Honorable Chairman of the Salvation Army's Leadership Committee for Centers of Hope and Co-Chair of the Community Capital Campaign for N Street Village in the District. He is also the co-sponsor of the "I Have a Dream Foundation" and personally guaranteed a college education for 55 students.

"I grew up in a house where both my parents were very much involved in helping others," said Pollin. "My philosophy is that those of us who are on the giving end rather than the receiving end are very lucky."

Not surprisingly, recognition of the Pollins' record and accomplishments are just as impressive as the deeds they acknowledge. The last two years have been landmark ones for Pollin, as he has received numerous awards and accolades recognizing his accomplishments in professional sports and contributions to community service.

Additionally, Pollin was awarded the Duke Ziebert Capital Achievement Award for his efforts in revitalizing downtown Washington, DC He has also been the recipient of the Distinguished Civilian Service Award, presented by the US Army, the 1996 Robert F. Kennedy-Martin Luther King, Jr. Award, presented by Coalition to Stop Gun Violence, the 1996 United Cerebral Palsy Achievement Award and the 1997 Jewish Leadership Award. In 2006, Pollin was honored for his contributions to the world of sports and his community when the United States Sports Academy fabbed him for their Distinguished Service Award.

As if the years of experience with the Bullets/Wizards, Capital Centre and Verizon Center were not challenging enough, Irene Pollin is a noted health care professional with over 28 years of experience in the field. In 1976, she created the first Medical Crisis Counseling Center developed to treat patients and families coping with chronic illness. Since then she has developed Medical Crisis Counseling Centers at Washington Hospital Center as well as additional facilities in surrounding communities.

In addition, Irene Pollin has forged a dynamic reputation as a psychiatric social worker and lecturer in the department of psychiatry at Harvard University. As president and founder of the Linda and Kenneth Pollin Foundation, she serves on a number of national advisory boards and commissions in fields of both mental and women's health, and is the founder and chairperson of the Sister to Sister — Everyone Has a Heart Foundation, an organization whose aim is to increase women's awareness of heart disease and provide free cardiac screenings.

In addition to lecturing in the academic community, Mrs. Pollin has been a guest on national and local broadcast shows including The Today Show, Nightline with Ted Koppel, Good Day New York, National Public Radio and USA Today Sports Radio. She also has published numerous articles and is the author of two books, Medical Crisis Counseling — Short-Term Therapy for Long-Term Illness and Taking Charge — Overcoming the Challenges of Long-Term Illness.

She has served as a board member of numerous organizations such as the American Cancer Society, Smithsonian Institution, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, National Kidney Foundation, the Multiple Sclerosis Society, the Society for Women's Health Research, National Cancer Institute, National Rehabilitation Hospital, the National Institute of Mental Health, the U.S. Committee for the Washington, DC United Nations Fund for Women, the National Institutes for Health Foundation and the Office of Women's Health at NIH. Outside of the health field, Mrs. Pollin has served on the board for the National Symphony Orchestra and the Washington Opera. In addition, she has given back to her alma mater, serving on the Board of American University for 11 years, the American University Executive Committee and the Development Committee at AU and was the guiding force behind the development of the new AU Library.

Abe Pollin moved with his family to the Washington area from Philadelphia when he was eight. He graduated from The George Washington University in 1945 and went to work for his family's construction company for 12 years. Irene Pollin, a native of St. Louis, received a Bachelor's Degree from American University, and then earned a Master's Degree in Social Work from Catholic University. In 1957, the Pollins launched their own construction company and, as a local contractor, built several large apartment houses and office buildings, one of which featured the first-ever rooftop pool in Washington.

Most recently, Abe and Irene Pollin together established the Pollin Prize for Pediatric Research, administered annually by New York Presbyterian Hospital. The first Pollin Prize was awarded November 15, 2002 to four international scientists for their work in Oral Rehydration Therapy, hailed as the most important medical discovery of the 20th century.

The Pollins are avid travelers and they enjoy spending time with their children and grandchildren. Robert, the elder of the Pollins' two sons, lives in Amherst, MA with his wife Sigrid, where they are both professors at the University of Massachusetts. Robert, an economics professor, and Sigrid, an architect, have two daughters, Emma and Hannah. The Pollins' younger son, James, is the Executive Vice President of the Sister to Sister — Everyone Has a Heart Foundation. Abe and Irene Pollin reside in Bethesda, Maryland.

PRESIDENT

Susan O'Malley

If there is any way to personify success through perseverance then Susan O'Malley is a model example. Named President of Washington Sports & Entertainment on May 9, 1991, O'Malley became the first female president of an NBA franchise as well as president of a multi-faceted sports and entertainment company.

A respected leader and motivator, O'Malley has risen through the ranks to the top of Washington Sports & Entertainment. Once an intern with the Bullets and Capitals, O'Malley joined the organization full-time in 1986 as Director of Advertising. Since that time, her ground breaking business ideas and proactive approach to customer service has brought her, and Washington Sports & Entertainment, to the top of the sports business world.

After being named President, O'Malley took an organization ranked last to its counterparts in close to every category, and initiated policies and procedures that have formed positive relationships with ticket holders, corporate sponsors, and the media.

In her first season handling off-court activities, the team experienced the largest ticket revenue increase in the history of an NBA franchise to date. In addition, that year, the club achieved the highest renewal rate of season tickets ever by the franchise, including the year following the 1977-78 Championship season.

As President, O'Malley oversees all business operations for the Washington Wizards. In addition, she is responsible for overseeing operations in the Abe Pollin owned Verizon Center, Entertainment and New Business Development, Finance, Human Resources/Payroll Services, Marketing, Team Operations, and TicketMaster.

"The city of Washington is extremely fortunate to have a man like Abe Pollin spend over $200 million of his own money to build a world-class sports and entertainment facility in the heart of the city at no expense to the taxpayers," said O'Malley. "It's my job to make sure that Verizon Center continues to provide outstanding entertainment for this city as often as possible. Since we opened in 1997, we have been among the 'busiest' arenas in the country, and we will continue to be for years to come."

O'Malley's magic has helped attract over 21.2 million patrons through the turnstiles of the Washington, DC-based facility through August of 2006 to witness professional basketball at its finest, as well as spectacular events and concerts. In the eight and a half year history of Verizon Center, the arena has been host to more then 1,788 concerts and sporting events. The 2005-06 Wizards season saw the franchise tally 14 sellouts, averaging over 17,000 fans per game en route to their second consecutive trip to the NBA playoffs.

From a young age, O'Malley always knew her path in life. As a grade school student, she wrote a paper declaring her goal was to run a sports franchise. Her teacher deemed the goal "unrealistic," but O'Malley was not swayed. After graduating in 1983 with a Bachelor of Science degree in business and finance from Mt. St. Mary's College, O'Malley worked for the Earle Palmer Brown Advertising firm for three years before joining the Bullets in 1986. She worked for two seasons in the advertising department before being promoted to Executive Vice President and took control of the business operations of the franchise.

A skilled motivator, O'Malley created a spirited, results-oriented work environment that has been emulated throughout professional sports. While she demands hard work and determination from her staff, she has been rewarded with loyalty — her core management team, assembled by O'Malley when she assumed control of Washington Sports, remains intact nearly 16-years later. Her motivational methods are much sought-after, as she has become an often-requested speaker for civic, academic, and corporate groups.

"I think motivation and drive always comes from within," said O'Malley. "There are people that I greatly admire and respect. [Former chairman of the Washington Post] Katherine Graham was one of my great heroes. People like that inspire me. It's easy to point to someone like Sandra Day O'Connor, who became the Supreme Court's first female member over twenty years ago. People who keep trying to move forward, that's important to me, that's what inspires me."

For two years, O'Malley taught a Sports Business Marketing class at the Georgetown University Business School. Sharing her invaluable experience with the senior students, O'Malley lectured on what she knows best: how to run a successful sports franchise. Along with guest celebrities and seasoned veteran sports marketers, Georgetown students were exposed to a first hand experience in sports business without ever leaving the classroom. In 2002, Georgetown awarded O'Malley with the Adjunct Professor of the Year Award. Currently she is pursuing her law degree from Georgetown.

O'Malley is a strong advocate of community service, a quality that is emulated by Washington Sports & Entertainment. She works tirelessly in countless fundraising capacities for worthy causes. For her commitment to youth, O'Malley was the recipient of the Americanism Award from the Alexandria-Olympic Boys and Girls Club in 1997. On the lighter side, in 2006 O'Malley paid homage to her Irish heritage when she served as the Grand Marshall for the Washington, DC St. Patrick's Day Parade.

O'Malley resides in Alexandria, VA

PRESIDENT OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

Ernie Grunfeld

Widely regarded as one of the top executives in the National Basketball Association, Ernie Grunfeld is entering his fourth season as President of Basketball Operations of the Washington Wizards. Grunfeld joined the organization on June 30, 2003, and in just his second year, with a roster that was largely assembled under his guidance, the Wizards won a Playoff series for the first time in over two decades in 2004-05. With their second consecutive playoff appearance in 2005-06, Grunfeld's Wizards registered back-to-back playoff seasons for the first time in 18 seasons, and reached an organizational goal of becoming perennial Playoff contenders.

Grunfeld triggered Washington's ascent to the upper echelon of the Eastern Conference with the acquisition of a pair of talented performers in Gilbert Arenas and Antawn Jamison, both of whom blossomed into All-Stars in Washington. Now as a two-time All-Star and All-NBA performer, Arenas has proven to be the most significant free agent signing in franchise history.

After an appearance in the Eastern Conference Semifinals in 2005, Grunfeld bolstered the Wizards' foundation with the acquisition by trade of Caron Butler and the signing of Antonio Daniels in the summer of 2005, complementing one of the youngest and most versatile nucleuses in the NBA. Butler's arrival from Los Angeles via trade for Kwame Brown, helped the Wizards feature the NBA's highest scoring trio in the league for the second consecutive season. This past off-season, Grunfeld added toughness, defense and experience to the Wizards' roster with a pair of free agent signings in Darius Songaila and DeShawn Stevenson.

Prior to his efforts in Washington Grunfeld's long and prodigious list of accomplishments as one of the league's elite general managers included two trips to the NBA Finals, four Eastern Conference Finals appearances and 12 playoff berths, including 11 straight from 1991-2001 with the New York Knicks and Milwaukee Bucks. With 28 years of NBA experience as a player, broadcaster, coach and executive, Grunfeld's vision and leadership have been paramount to the Wizards' success.

In the process of building a contender in the Eastern Conference, Grunfeld's attention to detail resulted in the renovating and upgrading of the team's facilities at Verizon Center. The major overhaul included the interior and exterior of the team's locker room and the basketball operations and coaching offices.

"Everything he has done has been with the focus of making us a playoff contender for years to come," said Wizards Chairman Abe Pollin. "Some moves have shown immediate returns and others are made with an eye towards the future. That's the mark of a good manager."

Prior to joining the Wizards, Grunfeld spent the previous four seasons as General Manager of the Milwaukee Bucks, where the team's 14 playoff wins during his tenure exceeded its cumulative total in the 12 seasons prior to his arrival. During his tenure, the Bucks posted a record of 177-151 (.540) and qualified for the playoffs three times. Included in the Bucks run of playoff success was a trip to the 2001 Eastern Conference Finals, where they pushed Philadelphia to a deciding Game 7.

Grunfeld solidified his reputation as a top talent evaluator with a series of second round picks that helped build the Bucks' roster. Grunfeld's penchant for finding talent in the second round began when he selected Michael Redd with the 43rd overall pick in 2000, and has since watched Redd blossom into an All-Star performer. Grunfeld has also tabbed Jason Hart (2000), Ronald Murray (2002), and more recently Andray Blatche (2005), in the second round of the NBA Draft to stake his claim as a premier draft day executive.

During Grunfeld's reign as the Knicks' top personnel executive, New York advanced to the Conference Semifinals of the NBA Playoffs for nine consecutive seasons (1991-99). His tenure included five 50-plus win seasons, three Atlantic Division Championships and two trips to the NBA Finals. In eight full seasons of decision making for New York, Grunfeld's Knicks teams compiled a record of 397-227 (.636) in the regular season and a 61-44 mark in the playoffs.

Grunfeld was named General Manager of the New York Knicks on April 23, 1991 and was later promoted to President and General Manager on February 23, 1996. His tenure in New York was punctuated by Eastern Conference Championships in 1994 and '99, the latter of which marked the first time in NBA history that an eighth seed advanced to the Finals. Remarkably, after Patrick Ewing was felled by injury, the '99 Finals squad featured an entirely different starting five than the previous Eastern Conference Champion Knickerbockers just five years earlier.

With Grunfeld's vision, the mid-'90's Knicks completely rebuilt and reloaded to an elite level without missing a beat. Highlighted by trades for Latrell Sprewell and Marcus Camby, as well as the signing of free agent Kurt Thomas, Grunfeld's moves helped catapult the Knicks to the Finals in '99. Three years earlier, Grunfeld acquired both Larry Johnson and Allan Houston on the same day in '96, solidifying his reputation as an astute decision maker. Under Grunfeld's guidance, the Knicks played in front of a sold-out Madison Square Garden from 1993-99.

Entering his 17th season as a top personnel executive in the NBA, Grunfeld has enjoyed 15 seasons of at least .500 basketball in his first 16 seasons, while the 2005-06 Wizards marked Grunfeld's 14th playoff team on three different franchises that have experienced the postseason on his watch.

Originally drafted by Milwaukee with the 11th overall selection in 1977, Grunfeld played in the NBA for nine seasons. After two seasons in Milwaukee, he played for the Kansas City Kings from 1979-82 before signing with the Knicks as a free agent in 1982. Grunfeld retired following the 1985-86 season with a career average of 7.4 points per game in 693 career games played.

Following his playing career, Grunfeld served as the Knicks radio analyst for the MSG Network from 1986-89. Prior to the 1989-90 season, he served as an assistant coach for the Knicks under Stu Jackson before his promotion to the front office.

Born in Romania, Grunfeld came to New York City in 1964 with his father, Alex and mother, Livia. He enjoyed a stellar collegiate career at the University of Tennessee, where he left as the school's all-time leading scorer with 2,249 points. He teamed with Bernard King at Tennessee to form the "Ernie and Bernie Show" and later played with King in New York. Grunfeld was a member of the 1976 Olympic Team that won gold in Montreal.

Upon his arrival in Washington DC, Grunfeld was quick to establish himself as an active member of the community in the nation's capital. His participation in the organization's community outreach programs, including Thanksgiving luncheons, Holiday gift deliveries, and charitable bowling tournaments helped set an example of excellence for the Wizards and the community.

"Ernie has been a major contributor to the National Basketball Association for nearly three decades. He has excelled in many facets of the game, and for that he is one of the most respected figures in basketball. Ernie is a tireless worker, and on a personal note, I value him as a great friend."

—Jerry West,
Memphis Grizzlies,
President of
Basketball Operations

RINGTHEBELL2 on Archive.org

In May of 2005, Grunfeld was named by USA Basketball to a panel of nine basketball executives that will advise the United States' men's senior national program on matters including coaches and players selection.

Grunfeld and his wife, Nancy, have two children, Rebecca, who is in her second year at Georgetown Law School, and Danny, a recent graduate and Academic All-American from Stanford University, who now plays professional basketball for EWE Baskets Oldenburg in Germany.

HEAD COACH

Eddie Jordan

The 2006-07 campaign marks Eddie Jordan's fourth season at the helm in Washington, and the Washington, DC product continues to make his homecoming a special one. Born and raised in Washington, Jordan returned to DC prior to the 2003-04 season, and in just his second season with the Wizards in 2004-05, Jordan guided the team to its first Playoff appearance in eight years and its first postseason series win since 1982. In the follow-up season in 2005-06, the Wizards finished the regular season at 42-40, as Jordan, the NBA Eastern Conference's longest tenured Head Coach, took the franchise to the Playoffs in back-to-back seasons for the first time since 1986-87 and 1987-88.

Signed to an extension during the summer of 2006, Jordan's influence on his young and talented team is evident. Jordan saw Gilbert Arenas and Antawn Jamison selected to the All-Star team for the first time in their careers in 2005, guided Arenas to back-to-back All-NBA seasons in 2005 and 2006, and presided over the career-best seasons of Caron Butler in 2005-06 and Larry Hughes in 2004-05. With one of the league's youngest nucleuses, Jordan and the Wizards enjoyed the franchise's best season since 1978-79 in 2004-05, established a new record for wins in a season at Verizon Center in that same season, and earned the fifth seed in the Eastern Conference in consecutive years to achieve an organizational goal of becoming perennial playoff contenders.

Jordan won his 100th career game as a head coach on April 11, 2005, and improved his career record to 145-198 after the 2005-06 regular season. Last season, among many highlights for Jordan's Wizards, he won his 100th game as the team's Head Coach on March 5th versus Sacramento, and guided Washington to 27 home wins.

After compiling a 25-57 record in his first season in Washington, Jordan guided the Wizards to a 20-game improvement in 2004-05. Despite using 16 different starting line-ups on account of a myriad of injuries (314 total games), only two teams saw a bigger improvement in the win column from the previous year. The 2004-05 season was highlighted by the Wizards' series win against the Chicago Bulls in the first round of the NBA playoffs; a series in which Jordan's Wizards rallied from a 0-2 deficit to take the series with four consecutive wins.

Jordan was introduced as head coach of the Washington Wizards on June 19, 2003 after serving as the lead assistant of the New Jersey Nets for the previous four seasons. With Jordan's tutelage and offensive system, the Nets won consecutive Atlantic Division and Eastern Conference Championships in 2002 and 2003.

Jordan joined the Nets coaching staff on March 17, 1999. Prior to his arrival in New Jersey, Jordan spent the 1997-98 campaign and the final 15 games of the 1996-97 season as head coach of the Sacramento Kings, where he compiled a 33-64 record. He was an assistant coach with the Kings for five seasons before being named head coach on March 20, 1997.

After retiring from the NBA in 1984, Jordan was a volunteer assistant at Rutgers University under his former college head coach, and current Wizards' assistant, Tom Young. Jordan followed Young to Old Dominion as a part-time assistant before landing an assistant coaching position at Boston College under Jim O'Brien in 1986, and at his alma mater in 1988.

Originally selected by the Cleveland Cavaliers in the second round of the 1977 NBA Draft (33rd overall), Jordan was acquired by New Jersey midway through his rookie year. As a New Jersey Net, Jordan led the league in total steals in 1978-79 and was second in total steals in 1979-80.

Jordan joined the Los Angeles Lakers during the 1980-81 campaign, where he subsequently played four seasons, and was a member of the 1982 NBA World Championship squad. He also played briefly with the Portland Trail Blazers before concluding his professional career after the 1983-84 season. In his seven-year career, Jordan averaged 8.1 points, 3.8 assists and 1.82 steals per game.

As a collegian, Jordan led Rutgers to the 1976 NCAA Final Four in his Junior year, and was named East Regional MVP. In his senior season, he was named honorable mention All-America, while setting Rutgers all-time career records in assists (585) and steals (220). Jordan graduated from Rutgers in 1977 with a degree in health and physical education.

Jordan was born in Washington, DC and is a 1973 graduate of Archbishop Carroll High School where he enjoyed a standout basketball and football career. Jordan has recently created a program called Coach Jordan's Neighborhood "8", through which community groups in the District's Ward 8 can attend a Wizards' home game courtesy of Jordan.

Eddie and his wife, Charrisse, have two children, a son, Jackson (8), and daughter, Skylar (6). Eddie also has three sons, Justin, a recent graduate of New York School of the Arts; Eddie II, who followed in his father's footsteps at Rutgers University, where he played football; and Paul, who resides in DC Eddie II graduated from Rutgers in May, 2005 and is currently attending his alma mater for graduate school. Charrisse Jordan was recently appointed as President of "Behind the Bench" – a non-profit organization developed by the National Basketball Wives Association, which raises funds and awareness for charities that benefit women and children.

"Eddie was one of the smartest players that I have ever coached. He knew every single position on the court. He picked up everything very quickly and played the game as an extension of the Head Coach. He was one of the few players that I have ever coached that I knew, if he wanted to, could be a Head Coach."

The 2006-07 season marks Dave Johnson's tenth consecutive campaign as the voice of the Wizards on the Wizards Radio Network (WTEM-980). Also known to Wizards fans for his efforts as the host of the former weekly television show "Wizards Magazine", Johnson's ties to the Washington DC sports community are strengthened by his efforts as the sports director and award-winning morning sports anchor for WTOP radio (AM 1500), for whom he has logged over a decade of service.

Johnson's ubiquitous presence in the sports community is also due in part to his role as the television play-by-play voice of Major League Soccer's DC United on Comcast SportsNet, and to an extensive history with televised soccer that includes appearances on ESPN and FOX, among others. Most recently, Johnson served as the play-by-play voice for the 2006 FIFA World Cup on XM radio, for whom he called over 20 matches, including the World Cup final in Berlin.

Among Johnson's other career highlights is an Emmy Award for his work as the host of the NHL's Washington Capitals "Face Off" television show, countless anchored telecasts both on Comcast and WTTG-TV 5, an extensive play-by-play resume of college football, college basketball and lacrosse, and in the summer of 2006, Johnson served as a fill-in on Washington Nationals radio broadcasts.

A graduate of Towson University, Dave and his wife, Diane, live in Annapolis, MD with their son, Pierce.

Prior to his work in DC, Buckhantz anchored sports at TV stations in Atlanta, GA, Nashville, TN, Chattanooga, TN and Harrisonburg, VA.

Buckhantz' efforts also included play-by-play for the NFL on FOX, and from 1991-1997 he was the radio play-by-play voice of the US Naval Academy Football team.

Born in Washington, DC, Buckhantz grew up in Arlington, VA and holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Communication Arts from James Madison University. In 1995, he was honored with JMU's Distinguished Alumni Award. The 2006-07 NBA campaign marks Phil Chenier's 22nd consecutive season providing television color commentary for the Washington Wizards organization. Seated alongside play-by-play man Steve Buckhantz, Chenier has been further ingrained in the consciousness of Washington area sports fans after he starred for the Bullets for nine seasons during his playing days in the NBA.

An All-Star performer for the Bullets in 1974, 1975 and 1977, Chenier still holds the franchise record for most points in a non-overtime game (53), and he ranks among the all-time franchise leaders in field goals made (4th), points (6th), minutes played (6th) and games played (8th). He averaged at least 20 points per game for five consecutive seasons (1972-77) and was named to the All-NBA second team in 1974-75, when he finished eighth in MVP voting. After 10 professional seasons, Chenier retired in 1981 with 9,931 career points and a 17.2 ppg scoring average.

In the NBA off-season, Chenier shares his basketball expertise at his youth basketball camp, which is co-directed by David DuPree, a sports columnist for USA Today. Chenier lives in Columbia, MD, and has three children: April, Philip Lawrence and Adelle.

2005-06 TEAM NOTES

WE'RE BACK!: For the first time since the 1987 and 1988 NBA Playoffs, there was a back-to-back postseason participant in the Nation's Capital in 2005 and 2006. After advancing to the Eastern Conference Semifinals in 2005, the Wizards qualified as the 5th seed in the Eastern Conference in '06. Washington finished the regular season with a 42-40 record and an 18-year drought without back-to-back playoff appearances — the NBA's longest such streak, until now.

A PLAYOFF TRADITION: Washington's berth in the 2006 NBA Playoffs marked the franchise's 23rd all-time playoff appearance. The franchise's playoff tradition dates back to the 1964-65 season when Walt Bellamy and the Baltimore Bullets started it all. The Bullets qualified for a franchise record 12 straight postseasons from 1968-69 through 1979-80; a streak that included four NBA Finals appearances and the 1978 World Championship.

NEW NAME, SAME BUILDING: Renamed Verizon Center midway through this season, the building formerly known as MCI Center remained as a welcome beacon for the Wizards in 2006. After establishing a building record with 29 home wins in 2004-05, the Wizards reestablished their home court advantage this season. Washington ended up with a 27-14 home record, and saw a total of 705,062 fans cross through the turnstiles. The Wizards played in front of 14 sold-out crowds and welcomed an average of 17,197 fans to Verizon Center for 41 home games.

PLAYOFF EXPERIENCE: When the Wizards embarked on their playoff journey in 2005, only three players among them had playoff experience to his credit. Antawn Jamison and the since departed Larry Hughes and Anthony Peeler had been to the playoffs before, but the rest of the Wizards were postseason neophytes. However, in 2006, 10 of the 15 Wizards that closed the regular season had been to the playoffs before. Led by Antonio Daniels' 59 games of playoff experience, Antawn Jamison (15), Caron Butler (13), Gilbert Arenas (10), Calvin Booth (10), Brendan Haywood (10), Jared Jeffries (10), Michael Ruffin (9), Etan Thomas (8) and Billy Thomas (1), made 10 Wizards with a combined 145 games of playoff experience.

BIGGER THAN THE BIG THREE: In 2004-05, the much ballyhooed trio of Gilbert Arenas, Antawn Jamison and Larry Hughes earned the catchy moniker 'The Big Three', and posted an NBA-best 67.1 points per game as a teammate trio. However, with the off-season departure of Larry Hughes, Washington turned to the newly acquired Caron Butler to help shoulder the scoring load. In 2005-06, Arenas (29.3 points per game), Jamison (20.5 ppg) and Butler (17.6 points per game) averaged a combined 67.4 points per game — and easily outdistanced the Philadelphia 76ers' Allen Iverson, Chris Webber and Andre Iguodala (65.5 ppg) as the league's most potent teammate trio.

WHAT CAN HE POSSIBLY DO NEXT?: After the 2002-03 season, when Gilbert Arenas was with the Golden State Warriors, the NBA recognized Arenas as the league's Most Improved Player. Following his MIP campaign, Arenas upped his scoring average from 18.3 points per game in his last season in Golden State to 19.6 points per game in his first year in Washington. Since that time, his numbers have just kept rising...

INTRODUCING THE NEW FANTASTIC FOUR...: In an unforgettable season for the NBA's top scorers, Gilbert Arenas, Kobe Bryant, LeBron James and Allen Iverson became the first NBA quartet to each record 10 games with at least 40 points scored in the same season since Elgin Baylor, Walt Bellamy, Bob Pettit, Jerry West and Wilt Chamberlain did so in 1961-62. The NBA had not seen four players average at least 29.0 points per game since that same season (Baylor, Bellamy, Chamberlain, Guerin, Pettit, Robertson, West).

	POINTS PER GAME	40-POINT GAMES	30-POINT GAMES
Kobe Bryant	35.4	27	56
Allen Iverson	33.0	15	49
LeBron James	31.4	10	49
GILBERT ARENAS	29.3	11	42

AMONG THE BEST: The NBA's fourth leading scorer, Gilbert Arenas' 29.3 points per game scoring average in 2005-06 ranked as the second-highest single season scoring average in franchise history, behind only Walt Bellamy's single-season franchise record of 31.6 ppg in 1961-62. Arenas, who edged Bernard King's 28.4 points per game performance in 1990-91, also became the franchise's first player since Bellamy to score at least 2,000 points in consecutive seasons. After he tallied 2,038 points in an ALL-NBA season last year, Arenas poured in 2,346 points this season. Bellamy topped the 2,000 point mark in three consecutive seasons from 1961-1964.

ANOTHER ARENAS ACCOLADE: The list of Arenas' accolades in 2005-06 stretches far and wide. Included in Arenas' 2005-06 highlights...another All-Star appearance...three Eastern Conference Player of the Week Awards — including back-to-back POTW honors on February 6th and February 13th...an NBA record for points scored by a player who played 30 minutes or fewer (46 points in 30 minutes vs. New York on February 25th)...back-to-back 40-point games on December 30, 2005 and January 2, 2006 (first Wizard since Michael Jordan to score 40+ points in back-to-back games)...a franchise record 23 free throws made versus Golden State (2/8)...and a Top Ten finish on the NBA leader board in points per game (4th), three-point field goals made (2nd), free throws made (3rd), steals per game (4th) and assists per game (18th).

14 LINE-UPS LATER: Throughout the course of the 82-game regular season, Wizards Head Coach Eddie Jordan employed 14 different starting line-ups. The starting line-up that featured Gilbert Arenas, Jared Jeffries, Caron Butler, Antawn Jamison and Brendan Haywood started 40 games together — the most of any unit used by the Wizards. Including the departed Chucky Atkins, 13 different Wizards were on the floor for the opening tip of a game this season. Statistically speaking, the Wizards are best off with Caron Butler in the line-up. Butler and the Wizards enjoyed a 33-21 (.611) record when #3 joined the starting unit.

BEAST OF THE EAST: After an All-Star campaign in 2004-05, Antawn Jamison posted monster numbers again in 2005-06. While he wasn't recognized as an All-Star, Jamison nevertheless reached heights that no other player in his Conference could. With 28 games with at least 20 points and 10 rebounds, Jamison topped all Eastern Conference players in that category. Across the NBA, only Western Conference All-Stars Kevin Garnett (40), Shawn Marion (40) and Elton Brand (36) had more 20-and-10 games than did Jamison. A nightly double-double threat, Jamison's career-high 9.3 rpg average helped him tally 35 double-doubles this season — tied for 8th in the NBA. The 2005-06 season also saw Jamison score his 10,000th career point on January 18th in Orlando and grab his 4,000th career rebound on February 6th at Verizon Center against the Magic.

THE BUTLER DID IT: Acquired in an off-season trade with Chucky Atkins for Kwame Brown and Laron Profit, Caron Butler came to DC in search of a home. Playing for his third team in four years, Butler found exactly what he was looking for with the Wizards. In a season in which he averaged a career-high 17.6 points and 6.2 rebounds per game — and connected at a career-best .455 clip from the field and .870 from the free throw line — Butler's value to the Wizards became even more apparent when he was thrust into a starting role. In 54 games as a starter in 2005-06, Butler's numbers jumped to 18.6 ppg and 6.7 rpg, and the Wizards enjoyed a 33-21 record. Butler tallied nine double-doubles during the regular season, but his value to Washington was no more obvious than it was during a late season stretch from April 7 - April 14. While Butler was sidelined for five games with a sprained right thumb, Washington lost five consecutive games and saw its grasp of the five seed in the East almost slip away. However, with his return for the final three games of the regular season, Washington was the victor in the final three contests and the fifth seed was secured.

A-D-LIGHTFUL ADDITION: Signed by the Wizards as a free agent prior to the 2005-06 campaign, Antonio Daniels brought his 59 games of postseason experience — and one Championship ring — to Washington. While Daniels started relatively slow, the eight-year veteran found his stride when it mattered most. Daniels averaged 14.2 points, 2.7 rebounds and 4.4 assists per game in the month of March, and he connected on 51.4 percent of his field goal tries and 88.5 percent of his free throw attempts. In April, even a recent left wrist sprain couldn't slow him down. In 10 games played in the regular season's final month, Daniels averaged 13.7 points and 4.9 assists in 36.6 minutes per game. Daniels scored in double figures in 22 of his last 26 games, and finished the year with a career-high 28.5 minutes per game average in 80 regular season games played.

November	25.1	5.7	3.0

January	29.8	10.2	3.5

March	33.9	14.2	4.4
April	36.6	13.7	4.9

HAYWOOD'S HIGHLIGHTS: In his fifth season in Washington, while Brendan Haywood fell just shy of increasing his scoring average for the fifth straight year, the Wizards' big man nevertheless had plenty of moments to remember. Haywood led the Wizards in rebounding 17 times, notched seven double-doubles on the year, scored a season-high 21 points in a win at Boston on January 25th and grabbed a season-best 14 rebounds on Opening Night in Toronto. One of Haywood's finest performances came in a nationally televised tilt in Chicago, when he scored 13 points, grabbed nine rebounds and blocked a season-high five shots in a narrow Wizards' defeat.

BOOTH IS BACK: Originally drafted by the Wizards in 1999, Calvin Booth returned to Washington in 2005 and provided the Wizards with a steady presence in the middle behind incumbent centers Brendan Haywood and Etan Thomas. Along with Antawn Jamison, Booth was just one of two Wizards to be active for every game in 2005-06, and he provided a notable boost to Washington in January. Pressed into a starting role on January 11th versus Atlanta and again on January 13th in Indiana, Booth helped the Wizards to a perfect 2-0 record in games in which he started. Booth had a season-high seven points on January 3rd against Houston, including his first-ever three-point field goal.

STILL RUFF: Michael Ruffin isn't the type of player that gets a lot of ink. Until balls-kept-alive, loose-balls-retrieved, hard fouls and general hustle are tracked by the Elias Sports Bureau, Ruffin's game won't be noted by some. But the Tulsa grad gave the Wizards exactly what they needed from him in 2005-06. Ruffin's season highlights included a season-high eight points versus Golden State on February 8th, a season-best 10 rebounds on two occasions, and a 3-1 Wizards record in games in which he started.

THE LONGEST TENURED WIZARD: Etan Thomas, the longest tenured Wizards player, battled injuries all season long, but provided the Wizards with a viable starting center option when he was healthy. Thomas was tabbed as the Wizards starting center in nine games, and averaged 7.1 points (.596 FG%), 5.6 rebounds and 1.78 blocks per game in those contests. On the year, Thomas led the Wizards in rebounding three times, scored in double-figures 11 times, and registered one double-double on the year with 13 points and season-high 11 rebounds against Miami on December 30. Thomas' season-high point total came in a 14-point effort against the Clippers on November 9th, but a strained right hip (12/23) and sprained lower back (five games) robbed Thomas of several opportunities to add to his season numbers.

ROOKIE REPORT: The 2005-06 season marked the first NBA campaign for a pair of Wizards: rookies Andray Blatche and Donell Taylor. Blatche, a second-round pick of the Wizards in the 2005 Draft, had a season-best night against the Atlanta Hawks on January 11 when he tallied a career-high nine points, seven rebounds and two blocks. Blatche made a six-game trip to Roanoke from December 14 to January 2 to compete for the D-League's Dazzle, where he averaged 11.2 points and 6.8 rebounds per game. Taylor, meanwhile, an undrafted rookie free agent out of UAB, nearly cracked into the Wizards' regular rotation with his strong play midseason. Taylor made his first career start versus Boston on March 7 and had a memorable evening on January 11 versus the Hawks when his season-high 15 points tied for team-high honors.

JOURNEYMAN NO MORE: After spending almost all of the 2004-05 and 2005-06 preseason with Washington, Billy Thomas finally got this chance to play for the Wizards in regular season action in 2005-06. Thomas was signed by Washington to a pair of 10-day contracts and ultimately for the remainder of the season on March 17th. Thomas made his Wizards debut versus Detroit on March 11, but his season highlight came a couple of weeks later in Sacramento. With Gilbert Arenas and Etan Thomas sidelined, Eddie Jordan turned to his bench to find the road win. Thomas scored a career-high tying 14 points at Sacramento (3/28) in a season-high 23:25 minutes played. Thomas was averaging 16.5 points and 4.3 rebounds per game for the Sioux Falls Skyforce (CBA) prior to signing with Washington.

SWEET STOREY: A training camp invitee in the summer of 2005, Awvee Storey fought his way on to the Opening Night roster. With an unwavering toughness, Storey remained with the Wizards for the duration of the 2005-06 season, and registered a couple of memorable moments in his still young career. Storey scored a career-high 13 points versus Seattle at Verizon Center on November 11 and made his first career NBA start on February 6 versus Orlando.

DAZZLING THE DAZZLE: Second-year center Peter John Ramos did not appear in a game for the Wizards in 2005-06, but it was far from a wasted year for Ramos. Playing for the Roanoke Dazzle of the NBA's D-League, Ramos got the playing time in Roanoke that he couldn't get in Washington with veterans Brendan Haywood, Etan Thomas, Calvin Booth and Michael Ruffin manning the middle. Ramos averaged 14.9 points and 7.7 rebounds per game for the Dazzle.

WIZARDS RETIRED NUMBERS

41 WES UNSELD

As a player, Wes Unseld seemed to have been chiseled from a block of granite, with a stoic demeanor and an iron resolve to win. A 6-7 bull of a center, he forged his reputation on relentless rebounding, bone-jarring picks, and laser-beam outlet passes. He did all the unspectacular things that led to glamorous victories. He was the league's MVP and Rookie of the Year in 1968-69 and a five-time NBA All-Star who captained the Baltimore and Washington Bullets to four NBA Finals appearances in the 1970s and to a championship in 1977-78. Unseld was intelligent on and off the court, and over the course of his career he came to personify the virtues of hard work, dedication, and courage. After retiring in 1980 he moved into a front office position with the Bullets, then coached the team for seven seasons in the late 1980s and early 1990s before becoming the team's General Manager before taking a leave of absence in May 2003. During his 13-year NBA career, all with the Bullets, Unseld piled up many accomplishments. He ranked seventh on the league's all-time rebounding list and was one of a handful of players to have tallied at least 10,000 points and 10,000 rebounds for a career. He played 984 games for the Bullets, the most of any player in franchise history. His total of 13,769 boards (14.0 rpg) currently tops the franchise career list, and his 3,822 assists also is a Bullets record. After a standout career at Louisville, Unseld was the second overall selection in the 1968 NBA Draft by the Bullets following the selection of future teammate Elvin Hayes by the Rockets. The Bullets had never had a winning season up to that point of Unseld's arrival. With Unseld the team ran off 10 winning campaigns and made 12 consecutive playoff appearances. Unseld played each of his 13 seasons with the Bullets and was elected to the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1988. In 1996, he was named to the NBA 50th Anniversary All-Time Team.

11 ELVIN HAYES

One of the most talented power forwards ever to play the game, Elvin Hayes used his trademark turnaround jumper and aggressive defense to win a secure place in the NBA record books. Fifth on the all-time list in games (1,303) and third in minutes played (50,000), he missed only nine contests in his 16 years in the league, a tribute to his durability and conditioning. An All-Star for each of his first 12 seasons, he scored more points (27,313) than any other player in NBA history except for Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Karl Malone, Michael Jordan, Wilt Chamberlain and Moses Malone. He also ranks fourth on the league's all-time rebounding list with 16,279 boards. Hayes is the franchise leader in points scored with 15,551 and averaged 21.3 points and 12.7 rebounds in his nine seasons with the Bullets that included a world championship in 1978. Hayes attended the University of Houston where he had a standout career highlighted by outscoring Lew Alcindor 39-15 in leading Houston to snap UCLA's 47-game winning streak. Hayes was the first overall pick by the San Diego Rockets in the 1968 NBA Draft. Following four seasons with the Rockets, Hayes was acquired by the Baltimore Bullets in exchange for Jack Marin and future considerations on April 12, 1972. With the Bullets, Hayes moved to the power forward position and teamed with Wes Unseld to form one of the most formidable frontcourts in NBA history. Hayes led Washington to a franchise record 60 wins during the 1974-75 season while being named First Team All-NBA. During Washington's championship run in 1978, Hayes averaged a team-high 21.2 points per game. After a standout career in Washington, Hayes finished his 16-year career with the Houston Rockets. Hayes was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1990 and his #11 jersey is one of only three numbers retired by the Washington Wizards.

25 GUS JOHNSON

Gus Johnson, one of only three players in franchise history to have his jersey retired, was one of 21 finalists named by the North American Screening Committee for election into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame's Class of 2003. Johnson, a native of Akron, Ohio was a devastating force at the power forward position. Johnson's ability to score, pass, and rebound made the Baltimore Bullets a perennial title contender from the mid 1960s to the early 1970's. Johnson, who entered the league following one year at the University of Idaho in 1963, spent nine of his 11 pro seasons with the Bullets. Nicknamed "Honeycomb" for his sweet play, Johnson was a four-time All-NBA Second Team selection (1965, '66, '70, '71), a two-time All-Defensive First Team selection (1970, '71), and was a member of the 1964 NBA All-Rookie team. With Johnson on the roster, the Bullets reached the playoffs six times and advanced to the NBA finals in 1970-71 (4-0 loss to Milwaukee). Statistically, Johnson averaged a double-double (17.1 ppg and 12.7 rpg) in 581 career NBA games. The Washington Bullets retired his jersey number 25 in 1986. On April 29, 1987, Johnson passed away after being diagnosed with an inoperable brain tumor.

1977-78 CHAMPIONSHIP SEASON

Led by Wes Unseld and Elvin Hayes, the Washington Bullets captured the franchise's only world championship during the 1977-78 season under new head coach Dick Motta. The Bullets had established themselves as one of the most formidable teams in the 1970's and made two NBA Finals appearances only to lose to Milwaukee in 1971 and to Golden State in 1975, after a season in which the team posted a franchise record 60 victories. Washington finished the 1977-78 season with a 44-38 record and defeated Atlanta and San Antonio in the Eastern Conference Playoffs before upsetting Philadelphia 4-2 for a spot in the NBA Finals versus the Seattle SuperSonics. Seattle erased a 19-point lead at home in Game 1 and took a 1-0 series lead with a 106-102 victory. The series then shifted to the Capital Centre for Game 2 where Bobby Dandridge scored 34 points and Hayes added 25 points as Washington even the series with a 106-98 win. Seattle held off a late Washington rally for a 93-92 win at the Capital Centre in Game 3 as the series shifted to the Kingdome for Game 4. In need of a win, Washington trailed by 15 points late in third quarter but rallied behind Dandridge and Unseld to force overtime where Charles Johnson nailed three field goals as Washington evened the series with a 120-116 overtime win. The series then shifted to the Seattle Coliseum for Game 5, and in their home arena, the Sonics posted a 98-94 win to take a 3-2 series lead. Facing elimination, Washington exploded for 70 points in the second half of Game 6 and increased a 12-point first half lead into a 117-82 victory. The series then returned to Seattle for the seventh and deciding game where Washington played strong defense in forcing the Sonics backcourt of Gus Williams and Dennis Johnson into 4-26 shooting in building an 11-point fourth quarter lead. Seattle fought back in the closing minutes and cut the lead to four with a minute and a half to play. Mitch Kupchak then converted a big three point play but Seattle rallied to cut the lead to 101-99 on a Paul Silas tip-in. Seattle then fouled Unseld, who hit both of his free throws as Washington held on for a 105-99 victory and the franchise's first world championship. The title was the first for the City of Washington, D.C. since the Redskins won the NFL title in 1942. During the playoff run and finals, Motta reminded the media and fans that each series wasn't over until "the fat lady sings," a phrase that is widely associated with 1978 NBA Champion Washington Bullets.

WIZARDS IN THE COMMUNITY

REACH ONE, TEACH ONE

READ TO ACHIEVE

The NBA's year-round, league-wide initiative, Read to Achieve, promotes the values of reading and online literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with children. Throughout the year, the Wizards host reading timeouts at local schools, libraries or at Verizon Center to help promote the importance of literacy. Wizards' players take time-out to read to area youth to help engage their imagination and foster a life long love of reading and learning.

EVERYBODY WINS

Once a week, Wizards' staff members meet with students at Walker-Jones Elementary School to share conversation and good books. Everybody Wins is a mentoring program devoted to promoting children's literacy and a love of learning through shared reading and experiences with adults. This program is conducted in over 30 public elementary schools and impacts more than 5000 children in at-risk communities in the Washington-Metropolitan area.

NATIONAL POETRY MONTH CONTEST

Wizards' center Etan Thomas, with the help of Southwest Airlines, encourages local students to explore their writing skills and contribute to National Poetry Month through a poetry contest. Last spring, 7th - 12th grade students were asked to write an original poem focused on the theme, "I Remember When..." Three winners were selected from over 500 poems received. Along with attending a Wizards home game, the winners each received two round-trip tickets on Southwest Airlines and had the opportunity to read their poem aloud with Thomas at a post-game poetry reading.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH ART CONTEST

In celebration of Black History Month, the Wizards, with Southwest Airlines, Giant Foods and Kellogg's gave students the opportunity to help celebrate the history, accomplishments and impact of African-Americans through a Black History Month Art Contest. Ninth through 12th grade students created an original piece of artwork that celebrates an African-American Hero. Students displayed their artistic talents by creating an inspiring painting, drawing, collage or photograph that highlighted the history of African-Americans. Three outstanding pieces of artwork were featured at halftime of a Wizards home game and each student received two round-trip tickets on Southwest Airlines.

GILBERT SCORES FOR SCHOOLS!

Gilbert Arenas continues to make a difference in our community and this season he has pledged to score dollars for schools. For every Wizards home game, Gilbert will designate one school to be the recipient of a $100 per point cash donation. 41 schools will be selected to participate in this program through a lottery drawing.

THE GIFT TO ASSIST

PROJECT BLACKTOP
The Wizards have provided 21 newly refurbished basketball court sites in the Washington-Metropolitan area since 1992. This program provides area youth a clean and safe place to play. With the help of Coca-Cola/Sprite, the Wizards complete two sites a year, repaving and relining the courts and hosting a dedication ceremony and skills clinic at the site.

A SALUTE TO OUR HEROES
In partnership with Northrop Grumman the Washington Wizards worked with the USO of Metropolitan Washington and provided free tickets for every home game for soldiers recovering from injuries at the Walter Reed Medical Center and the Bethesda Naval Center. Each night soldiers were recognized during the game and were visited by former Wizards players and the Wizards Dance Team.

WIZARDS TURKEY GIVEAWAY
The Wizards host an annual turkey basket giveaway each November. Four hundred baskets are filled with turkeys and items to compliment a Thanksgiving Day meal, such as canned vegetables, bread, stuffing and desserts. Baskets are handed out to D.C. area families in need. Each season, Wizards players volunteer to sponsor this event and help pass out each basket.

ABE'S TABLE
The Wizards host an annual Abe's Table holiday event each November. Wizards' players, coaches and staff serve a hot Thanksgiving Day meal to over 100 senior citizens from the District.

POLLIN AWARD
The Wizards team up with Verizon to honor the D.C. area's top volunteers with the Pollin Award. Local schools, community organizations and companies have the opportunity to nominate their top volunteers who show exceptional dedication to their community. Winners are chosen based on their volunteer activities and how they impact their community. Winners receive two lower level tickets to a designated Wizards game and are presented the Pollin Award during halftime.

FAMILY TO FAMILY
A December ritual, Washington Sports & Entertainment Chairman Abe Pollin, Wizards players, coaches and front office staff board a charter bus filled with toys, bikes, clothes, games and gift certificates for each family and head to designated homes in the area who need help with the holidays. The Wizards work with various non-profit organizations throughout the Washington, DC metropolitan area to coordinate 10 families receiving donations.

CAREFIRST COMMUNITY THREE'S
For each Wizards' three-pointer, CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield pledged $100 to the Unity Health Care, a network of medical sites serving the District's homeless and uninsured, as part of the insurer's "Community Three's" program. This past season the Wizards scored $50,000 for Carefirst Community Three's.

WIZARDS CARE

GILBERT'S CHRISTMAS DREAM

Gilbert's Christmas Dream for kids allows Gilbert the opportunity to give back to kids who are less fortunate and who may not otherwise have a happy holiday. In the past, Gilbert has hosted over 300 children to a Christmas Eve dinner, an afternoon at the movies and the chance to attend a Wizards home game. Following each activity Gilbert then plays Santa and meets with each child one-on-one to provide them with their own special holiday gift.

COACH JORDAN'S NEIGHBORHOOD "8"

Every season Coach Jordan donates 50 tickets, meal vouchers, books, and t-shirts to a select Wizards home game for a community group from the Ward 8 neighborhood in southeast, Washington, DC. Coach Jordan meets with every group prior to the game to give some words of inspiration. The Ward 8 neighborhood is especially important to Coach Jordan because that is where he grew up.

GET 'N THE GAME

COLLECT A CAN FROM A FAN

The Wizards host an annual canned food drive at a Wizards home game in November. Fans are encouraged to donate non-perishable food items in exchange for a ticket to a future Wizards game. All donations benefit a private, non-profit organization that provides vulnerable residents of Washington, DC with comprehensive services including food, clothing, medical care, legal and social services in an atmosphere of dignity, respect and peace.

WIZARDS TOYLAND DRIVE

CARON'S COATS

In January, Wizards' forward Caron Butler and Chevy Chase Bank host a warm coats drive at a Wizards home game at Verizon Center. Fans are encouraged to donate new or gently used coats. Each fan who donates an item receives a coupon for a future Wizards game. Coats are given to Washington-Metropolitan area shelters and group homes through the Salvation Army.

COMMUNITY TIX PROGRAM

As part of Mr. Pollin's commitment to the fans, the Wizards provide complimentary game tickets to 501C-3 charitable organizations in the Washington-Metropolitan area each year. Interested groups are encouraged to send a letter of request on their company letterhead to the Wizards Community Relations Department. The Community Relations Department contacts groups directly when tickets become available.

RINGTHEBELL2 on Archive.org

AUCTION/DONATION PROGRAM

Because of the overwhelming number of requests for donations received each season, Washington Sports & Entertainment created the Community Auction/Donation program. Organizations are asked to send a letter of request to the Wizards Community Relations Department on their organization letterhead. Organizations then receive a donation form for tickets to a specified Wizards game. These tickets can be used as raffle items, door prizes, or silent auction items. The Community Relations Department makes autographed Wizards balls available for a donation of $100. This fee is donated to Washington Sports & Entertainment charities.

WE CAN-TOGETHER

Washington Wizards Owner Irene Pollin has launched a new health initiative to help combat childhood obesity. "We Can – Together" (Ways to Enhance Children's Activity & Nutrition) is a program developed by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute and has been implemented in several District recreational centers to encourage families to make lifestyle changes to help prevent obesity. Backed by the Irene Pollin-founded Sister-to-Sister: Everyone Has a Heart Foundation, "We Can-Together" is a grassroots educational campaign and action plan that will encourage primary care givers, and families as a whole, to "work smart" in making lifestyle changes that include diet and exercise to prevent childhood obesity and heart disease.

WIZARDS DANCERS & G-WIZ

WIZARDS DANCERS

The Wizards Dancers are multi-talented and high-energy dancers that display their intricate dance moves and routines at every Wizards home game. These women execute dance routines that require a combination of strength, flexibility, and timing. Under the leadership of Director and Choreographer Wanda Brown, the Wizards Dancers add professionalism and class in their many appearances at charitable events throughout the DC, Maryland, and Virginia areas.

The Wizards Dancers range in age from 19-30 and are full-time working professionals or full-time college students. It takes passion, dedication, and discipline to be a Wizards dancer. The dancers hit the gym for a team workout and rehearsal two nights per week for 3-4 hours a night year-round, in addition to their rigorous work, school, charity, and game schedules.

G-WIZ

G-Wiz is in his 10th season in the NBA as the Washington Wizards mascot. By interacting with the crowd, G-Wiz creates fun and excitement throughout all Wizards home games. This cute, blue and fuzzy creature has an alter ego known as G-Man, a muscular superhero that dazzles the crowd with his high flying dunks. Whether clowning around in the stands as G-Wiz or flying through the air as G-Man, he is guaranteed to entertain. G-Wiz can also be found performing at birthday parties and other social events, as well as at many of the Washington Wizards community events. Those interested in having G-Wiz perform at a function are asked to call 202-628-3200 ext. 3852.
